General Comments:	I believe that all of us can continually strive to improve on our teaching and that we are lifelong learners. Katelyn will continue to strive to improve, however, she far exceeded any expectations of a practicum I student that I had. She is stellar and so comfortable teaching her lessons and she displays good classroom management skills. She uses a variety of assessment methods and because her classroom management skills are strong she creates a learning environment where students can learn. I observe all lessons that practicums students teach and at the end of the day the practicum and I sit down and go over the "celebrations" of the lessons, and the "considerations" to work on for the next lesson. She is dedicated to making things better each time. Her first lesson this week was a Language Arts lesson that was "stellar." Her second lesson was an amazing "Art" lesson, A Tree for All Seasons. She displays a positive attitude, gets along with students and staff and is very willing to help out. She gets her lesson plans to me and is always asking for feedback to make them better. She is a very strong beginning practicum I student. I'm very impressed!
